Overview

William Fiore has practiced with Meyner and Landis for over 40 years, representing financial institutions, business and individual clients. Bill focuses on protecting secured creditors' rights in commercial collections, foreclosures and loan workouts. Bill also handles complex commercial real estate, business and loan transactions. He acts as general counsel to companies which do not maintain in-house legal departments. Bill's approach is to advance his clients' interests with real solutions in a cost-effective manner. When disputes are not resolvable, he has been an experienced, effective and successful litigator in a variety of business and commercial cases. Bill's responsiveness to clients and a common-sense business approach have been guiding principles for his success in attracting clients to the Firm's practice.
