We Are Open for Business Using Remote Office Protocols

Attorney

David B. Grantz

We are in unprecedented times. We want to assure our clients, however, that Meyner and Landis LLP has prepared for an event like this and we remain open for business. Meyner and Landis LLP has instituted its remote office protocols. As a result, all of our attorneys, paralegals, and support staff are currently working remotely from their home offices. This allows us to seamlessly support our clients while respecting efforts to implement social distancing in order to protect our employees' health and well-being.
